

Contextualization 2 (Set 2)

Analysis: Lit - Rumble Fish

Contextualization: Framing

This paper scores a 2 for the framing criterion because of the inclusion of the definition of a clique: “A clique is a group of people that do bad things.” This provides one piece of framing about the task.

Contextualization: Context

This paper scores a 2 in context. While this paper attempts to contextualize the first piece of evidence, stating, “I say rusty James is a cliques because he always fights,” there are too many assumptions that the scholar is making about the reader. The reader does not know who Rusty James is, who he fights, where he fights, or why he fights. The reader doesn’t know that Rusty James is speaking or to whom he is speaking.

Essay: Lit - Rumble Fish

Prompt: Explain if Rusty James’ friends who hang out at Denny’s are an example of a clique using evidence from Rumble Fish.

I think Rusty James and his crew of guys who hang out at dennys is an example of a clique a clique is a group of people that do bad things. I say rusty James is a cliques because he always fights and in the Passage it says “I’ve done this before. I go fight somebody every once a weak. This shows that rusty James and his group is an example of a clique.
