

Term: “Chunking”

Definition:

Chunking is when the author removes words and phrases from the middle of a quote to focus on the juicy parts of the quote and to make it more readable. Example: "Chunking is... an important skill." "Chunking can also occur" when authors chop up the quote so they can "more easily incorporate it into a clear sentence."