

Term: “Provides Closure”

Definition:

When a conclusion provides closure, it brings the paper to an end, summing up the key ideas of the paper without simply repeating them, reminds the reader why this matters, and leaves a reader with a final thought. These sections are not choppy; the flow seamlessly into each other.