

Term: “Words From Prompt and Text”

Definition:

Words that are in the prompt and the text are spelled and copied correctly. Character names and places are examples of words from the prompt and text, as are content-specific vocabulary words. These words might be more challenging to spell independently, but scholars are merely required to copy them.